

The Brief

Vol. 2 No. 9

A project of the NB Media Co-op

April 2010

nbmediacoop.org

Argentina honours NB Longshoremens for 1979 act of solidarity

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

By NANCY CHAMBERLAIN HILLARD

Membership agent of the Labor Union in South Island, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Argentina, which was necessary to supply the 1979 nuclear reactor that began the country's shift to nuclear energy. The 1979 protest, which was organized by the IAL, prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

"The union's action that year was a very important act of solidarity," said Sotomayor. "It was a very important act of solidarity that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

As a result of the protest, the IAL and the IAL's members were able to prevent the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

"The story of the 1979 act of solidarity in Argentina is a story of courage and solidarity," said Sotomayor. "It was a very important act of solidarity that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Cranberry cooperative goes big in Rogersville

By NANCY HILLARD

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

"A picture cannot show how big this site is. It's unbelievable. It's the world's largest. The cranberries will never be the same without them," says Roger Bates. Photo by Roger Bates.

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.

Argentina's Ambassador to Canada, Arturo Sotomayor Bermudez, presented the Orden de Mayo to Pat Kelly, business agent for the South Island local of the IAL, for the union's 1979 protest that prevented the shipment of heavy water to Argentina's military dictatorship. Photo by Rodrigo Sotomayor Bermudez.